Doings in Local Railroad Circles

F. V. Batteiger, Fairmont, traveling yard master of the Monongahela Railway, was in Brownsville, Pa., yesterday.

C. S. Wruck, B. & O. freight conductor, has reported on after spending a vacation.

H. M. Downey, B. & O. freight fireman, has returned after his vacation.

Clem Metz, Brownsville, Pa., master painter of the Monongahela Railway was in Fairmont yesterday.

H. M. Crawford, Brownsville, Pa., road supervisor, was here yesterday on business.

J. H. Morrow, way bill clerk, American Railway Express Company office in Fairmont, left today with Mrs. Morrow for Waverly, W. Va.

Yesterday afternoon Ira Wilson of Point Marion, Pa., became demurrage clerk at the Monongahela Railway freight station. E. J. Walker became chief clerk to succeed Frederick Simpson, who became assistant freight agent at Lowesville.

Nobody doubts Uncle Sam owns the railroad after seeing a B. & O. passenger train from Pittsburgh made up as follows: B. & O. engine; P. & R. baggage coach; a Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville coach and a Pennsylvania coach. It looks as if the make up man was trying to get all different ones.

Richard Bartlett, clerk at the B. & O. trainmasters office, Fairmont, has returned from Grace Grove, where he was camping. He took the past week off on a vacation trip to Buckhannon and vicinity.

THIS IS PLUMB.

CLEAN PLUMB

WASHINGTON—Everybody's read of the Plumb plan for control of the railroads which provides joint operation by government and employees. Here is the originator of the plan, who is also legal representative of the railroad brotherhoods, as he appeared in Washington arguing for his proposal.

to be expected that other unions trying to obtain more pay will be asked, as the shopmen, to play their part with other citizens in reducing the cost of living by foregoing a temporary advantage which added to transportation costs.

The decision of the President and the director-general was announced to a committee of 100, representing the shopmen. In reply to their demands for a 25 per cent. increase the shopmen were asked to accept an adjustment of their pay to the basis of ten hours pay for eight hours work, which they contended was given other employees and denied them when the Adamson law became effective. This means an advance of the basic pay from 68 cents to 72 cents an hour, whereas an increase of 17 cents to 85 cents an hour was demanded.

Acting President Lowell of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, and his advisers said they would communicate the decision to the union locals for acceptance or rejection. A strike vote completed yesterday, but not yet tabulated, was on the question whether the men should quit work to enforce consideration of their demands by the railroad administration instead of by a congressional commission as first suggested. As this plan was abandoned the vote, whatever its result, is non-effective and the shopmen now have an entirely new question before them.
